Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 06 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Becoming dry tonight, with patchy frost. Sunshine, showers on Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
A few showers continuing this evening, but these should die out by midnight, with skies becoming largely clear. A cold night, with patchy frost developing by dawn. Winds will be light and variable. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Friday:
A cold and bright start to the day, with sunny spells. Cloud will increase at times with showers developing, these locally heavy, perhaps wintry over hills. Winds light. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Dry, bright at first on Saturday, then cloud increasing with occasionally heavy rain and strong winds later. Rain clearing overnight. Sunny spells and scattered showers during Sunday and Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.